Forecast For Northeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Tuesday 30 Nov 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Mild and breezy today. Mainly dry away from the west.

Today:
Cloudy, mild and breezy on Tuesday morning with patchy rain and drizzle, mainly across the Pennines. Some brighter spells developing in eastern areas through the afternoon. Becoming windy in the west by evening with a chance of heavier rain. Maximum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Tonight:
Persistent, occasionally heavy rain with strong winds affecting western hills during the evening. Rain more patchy elsewhere. Becoming drier, clearer and colder later in the night with brisk winds continuing. Minimum temperature 2 deg C (36 deg F).

Wednesday:
Cold and breezy through the day. Mostly fine and bright to start but cloudier conditions spreading south bringing outbreaks of rain, perhaps wintry on hills, followed by sunshine and showers. Maximum temperature 6 deg C (43 deg F).

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
Cold Thursday with wintry showers and strong winds along the coast. Sleet or snow overnight into Friday, but dry and bright by day. Chilly Saturday. Chance of rain, strong winds.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.